APOLLO COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE FINANCE, INC.

REPORTS SECOND QUARTER 2024 RESULTS

New York, NY, August 6, 2024 – Apollo Commercial Real Estate Finance, Inc. (the “Company” or “ARI”) (NYSE:ARI) today reported results for the quarter ended June 30, 2024.

Net income attributed to common stockholders per diluted share of common stock was $0.23 for the quarter ended June 30, 2024. Distributable Earnings (a non-GAAP financial measure defined below) and Distributable Earnings prior to net realized loss on investments per share of common stock were $0.35 for the quarter ended June 30, 2024.

Subsequent Events – Healthcare Loan

In March 2022, ARI and other Apollo-managed entities co-originated a 55% loan-to-cost first mortgage loan secured by eight hospitals in Massachusetts. At origination, ARI’s portion of the loan totaled $378.7 million. The loan was made in connection with the capitalization of a joint venture between two parties to own the hospitals. That joint venture - through its subsidiaries, which were the mortgage borrowers under ARI and the Apollo managed entities' loan – then leased the properties to Steward Health Care ("Steward"), who served as the operator. ARI and the Apollo managed entities did not lend to Steward and do not have any involvement in Steward's operation of the hospitals or performance under the lease. The structure and covenants in the loan have provided for cash collateral and amortization since origination that represents approximately 11% of the original loan balance, and ARI’s amortized cost basis was $341.9 million as of June 30, 2024. As of the date of this quarterly report, the loan remains current on all contractual interest payments.

Steward filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in May 2024. During the three months ended June 30, 2024, ARI downgraded the loan's risk rating from a three to a four. Subsequent to the date of ARI’s condensed consolidated financial statements but prior to the date of ARI’s quarterly report, bids for the hospitals were received and the bid process and negotiations are continuing to evolve with multiple constituencies. While there still is a high degree of uncertainty, based upon the information available as of the date of this quarterly report, and taking into account Steward's bankruptcy court documents made publicly available on July 30, 2024, ARI anticipates recording a Specific CECL Allowance in a subsequent quarter, which the Company currently estimate to be approximately $90 million. The actual Specific CECL Allowance may differ materially based on continuing developments from the date of this quarterly report.

Distributable Earnings

"Distributable Earnings," a non-GAAP financial measure, is defined as net income available to common stockholders, computed in accordance with GAAP, adjusted for (i) equity-based compensation expense (a portion of which may become cash-based upon final vesting and settlement of awards should the holder elect net share settlement to satisfy income tax withholding), (ii) any unrealized gains or losses or other non-cash items (including depreciation and amortization related to real estate owned) included in net income available to common stockholders, (iii) unrealized income from unconsolidated joint ventures, (iv) foreign currency gains (losses), other than (a) realized gains/(losses) related to interest income, and (b) forward point gains/(losses) realized on the Company's foreign currency hedges, and (v) provision for loan losses.

As a REIT, U.S. federal income tax law generally requires the Company to distribute annually at least 90% of its REIT taxable income, without regard to the deduction for dividends paid and excluding net capital gains, and that the Company pay tax at regular corporate rates to the extent that it annually distributes less than 100% of its net taxable income. Given these requirements and the Company's belief that dividends are generally one of the principal reasons shareholders invest in a REIT, the Company generally intends over time to pay dividends to its stockholders in an amount equal to its net taxable income, if and to the extent authorized by the Company's board of directors. Distributable Earnings is a key factor considered by the Company's board of directors in setting the dividend and as such the Company believes Distributable Earnings is useful to investors.

During the six months ended June 30, 2024, the Company recorded in the consolidated statement of operations a realized loss on the sale of a commercial mortgage loan secured by a hotel in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Company believes it is useful to its investors to also present Distributable Earnings prior to net realized loss on investments and realized gain on extinguishment of debt, in applicable periods, to reflect its operating results because (i) the Company's operating results are primarily comprised of earning interest income on its investments net of borrowing and administrative costs, which comprise the Company's ongoing operations and (ii) it has been a useful factor related to the Company's dividend per share because it is one of the considerations when a dividend is determined. The Company believes that its investors use Distributable Earnings and Distributable Earnings prior to net realized loss on investments and realized gain on extinguishment of debt, or a comparable supplemental performance measure, to evaluate and compare the performance of the Company and its peers.

A significant limitation associated with Distributable Earnings as a measure of the Company's financial performance over any period is that it excludes unrealized gains (losses) from investments. In addition, the Company's presentation of Distributable Earnings may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies, that use different calculations. As a result, Distributable Earnings should not be considered as a substitute for the Company's GAAP net income as a measure of its financial performance or any measure of its liquidity under GAAP. Distributable Earnings are reduced for realized losses on loans which include losses that management believes are near certain to be realized.

A reconciliation of Distributable Earnings to GAAP net income (loss) available to common stockholders is included in the detailed presentation of the Company's quarter ended June 30, 2024 results, which can be viewed at www.apollocref.com.
